

TWO BOYS SUFFER IN DEEP DRIFTS

SHELL LAKE YOUNG MEN LOST IN WOODS.

One Will Lose Both Legs and the Other's Foot Must Be Amputated as the Result of Frost-bite—Some Other State Special Dispatches.

Shell Lake, Wis., March 18.—[Special]—Two sons of W. D. Rounce, a farmer living west of here—Arthur, aged seventeen, and Albert, aged twenty—are in the hospital here, suffering from the effects of an awful experience in the woods.

They had been visiting friends at Orange, Burnett county, and started to walk across the country to their home, a distance of twenty-five miles. The weather was bitter cold and a strong wind was blowing. They were not dressed well around the feet, and, becoming lost in the drifts they soon commenced to suffer severely.

They struggled along during the night, however, until, when almost dead with exhaustion and cold, they came upon a lumber camp where they were taken care of. Arthur will lose both legs and Albert one foot.

THE CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT
Measure To Provide for Extra Judges To Be Voted On.

Madison, Wis., March 18.—The proposed constitutional amendment to allow the election of extra circuit judges in districts has been certified to by the secretary of state, and will be submitted to the people at the spring election.

The Death Roll of the State.

Fort Atkinson, Wis., March 18.—Naphtill G. Barrows, father of Dr. A. P. Barrows and the oldest person in Fort Atkinson, died aged 95 years. He was born in Otisco, N. Y. In 1856 he came to Wisconsin. His wife now 91 years old is in fair health. This pair held the unusual record of seventy-three years of married life together. The funeral will be held Thursday.

Manitowish, Wis., March 18.—Lyman Emerson, one of the oldest settlers of this city, died suddenly aged 81. D. W. Emerson, of Racine, and a number of brother and sisters in Vermont. Whitewater, Wis., March 18.—Mrs. Ida Green, of this city, died suddenly this morning. She was aged 40 years and leaves a husband and children.

Logging on Reservation.

Ashland, Wis., March 18.—Logging on the Bad River reservation is now about at a standstill. Several camps there have ended operations, and the last ones are closing up today. Logging operations would have lasted several weeks longer but for the deep snow, which prevented the work from being done on a profitable basis.

Queer Suicide at Marinette.

Marinette, Wis., March 18.—[Special]—A young man named Henry Lemieux suicided in a peculiar manner here today. He cut a hole in the ice and forced his body through into the river.

Died From His Injuries.

Tomah, Wis., March 18.—Tony Lane of New Lisbon, who had both legs taken off in the railroad yards in this city Monday evening, died of his injuries. The body was taken to Necedah for burial.

Tomah Wants a Curfew Ordinance.

Tomah, Wis., March 18.—A mass meeting of citizens has been called to urge upon the council the necessity of the passage of a curfew ordinance. The meeting is to be held March 25.

Epidemic of Measles.

Palmyra, Wis., March 18.—Such an epidemic of measles in severe form prevails in the country seven miles north that scarce enough well can be found to care for the sick.

Stricken With Paralysis.

Baraboo, Wis., March 18.—W. S. Smith, one of the best known farmers in the county, was stricken with paralysis and his death is expected at any moment.

Alarmed About the Emperor.

London, March 18.—The Daily Chronicle states: "Grave news has been received in London with respect to the health of Emperor William of Germany, and certain constitutional possibilities are being discussed."

Supreme Court Goes to Ottawa.

Springfield, Ill., March 17.—The bill consolidating the Supreme court at Ottawa passed the house by a vote of 79 yeas to 64 nays. The house then adjourned.

CLEMONS' orchestra left today for Durand, and tomorrow night they play in Beloit.

ARKANSAS IS UNDER WATER.

Floods Do Much Damage, and Twelve Lives Are Lost.

Memphis, Tenn., March 18.—The United States weather bureau gives out the information that 800 square miles of the state of Arkansas is under water, and that the Mississippi river will continue to rise. In the district to the west of Marion, Ark., hundreds of people were picked up. The work of saving stock has been abandoned, and from now on all efforts will be turned towards saving human life. The total number of lives lost thus far reported officially to the relief committee is twelve. Six steamers and tugs and half a hundred skiffs are engaged in rescue work.

Hundreds of people, mostly negroes, were landed on the Memphis levee by the relief steamers that are daily visiting the flooded districts adjacent to Memphis. Vague reports have reached this city of the drowning of several people in Arkansas, but these cannot be verified. The river is stationary, marking 36.6, but the rise at Cairo and the reported heavy rains in Missouri and other states will only serve to increase the broad expanse of water in this vicinity. There has been a steady downpour of rain in Arkansas and West Tennessee all day. The situation in the flooded district remains practically unchanged. Steamboat men arriving from the south report all levees in fine condition.

Ice Gorge Is Broken.

Omaha, Neb., March 18.—The ice in the river about the Omaha pumping station broke Wednesday morning. The river fell about thirteen inches. From this it is judged that an ice-gorge has been formed somewhere to the north. People on both sides for miles are removing from the low lands to avoid the flood.

Rain in South Dakota.

Huron, S. D., March 18.—This portion of the state was visited by heavy rains Wednesday, accompanied by a south wind, breaking the longest cold spell ever experienced here. The rapidly melting snow is filling the streets and low places with water.

River Rising at Burlington.

Burlington, Iowa, March 18.—At 9 Wednesday night the river was again rising at the rate of one-half inch an hour.

THEY WILL HANG SATURDAY.

No Doubt That Jackson and Walling Will Be Executed on That Day.

Newport, Ky., March 18.—There is now no doubt that Scott Jackson and Alonzo Walling will be hanged next Saturday. Sheriff Plummer called on the prisoners at the Alexandria jail Wednesday and asked Jackson if he intended making any statement on the scaffold which would benefit Walling. Jackson calmly replied: "I have told all I know. I would clear him if I could."

The sheriff then told Walling his last hope had vanished, as he would in no case delay the execution on any statement from Jackson. Gov. Bradley said: "My duty is done; my decision is final. I carefully considered the case before I declined to interfere."

Tickets have been issued to the fifty persons who will witness the execution. There were over 1,200 applicants for admission. The condemned men will be removed from Alexandria jail, where they are now confined, to the Newport jail Friday evening. Gov. Bradley has ordered a company of state troops to report to Sheriff Plummer Saturday morning to assist in preserving order.

Famous Old Soldier Dead.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 18.—John Parshall, an old soldier, died very suddenly Wednesday of heart failure. He was one of the six soldiers entrusted with the final disposition of the remains of John Wilkes Booth, the assassin of Lincoln, all of whom registered an oath never to reveal Booth's last resting place. Five of these soldiers are now dead, and the secret, so far, has been religiously kept. Parshall also was a member of the Alexander expedition, sent to Utah to compel Brigham Young to vacate his office.

Preparation for Grant Day.

New York, March 18.—Though President McKinley has not yet accepted the invitation to come to New York on Grant day, April 27, Secretary Gage sent his formal acceptance, and it is expected that all the members of the cabinet will be here. The committee on naval affairs for Grant day has invited owners of merchant marine vessels, yacht clubs and other marine organizations to participate in the water parade.

Cleveland's Cruise Is Ended.

Norfolk, Va., March 18.—The light-house tender Violet, with ex-President Cleveland aboard, reached Norfolk at midnight Wednesday night, stopping at Buoy yard, where the ex-president was transferred to the tender Maple, and left for Washington at once. All the party are well and report having had a pleasant trip.

Jumps to His Death.

Jacksonville, Fla., March 18.—Brodie Williams, the high diver, last night jumped in a ball of fire from a seventy-five foot tower into Lake Worth at Palm Beach. He struck the bottom, broke his neck, and died within a few hours.

AUSTRIAN GUNBOAT SINKS GREEK SHIP

VESSEL LOADED WITH PROVISIONS ATTACKED.

Serious Results are Feared When the News Reaches Athens—Russia will Land Troops—Greeks will Oppose the Move—The Sultan Wants Peace—Threat From Admirals.

Canes, March 18.—An Austrian gunboat has sunk a Greek ship loaded with provisions and munitions of war. The result is feared when the news reaches Athens.

Canes, March 18.—It is said that Russia will land troops soon on the Macedonian frontier.

Athens, March 18.—According to persistent rumors orders have been issued to oppose the landing for foreign troops.

London, March 18.—The secretary of the Byron society has received a telegram from Athens stating that the sultan, desiring to preserve peace, has offered to withdraw the Turkish garrison from Crete, and to assign the island to King George, to be occupied and administered by Greece, with a recognition of the imperial suzerainty of the sultan, taking the form of an annual tribute. The telegram states that these terms are entirely agreeable to the Hellenic cabinet, as well as to the Cretan Mohammedans, who prefer annexation to autonomy.

Sittia, Crete, March 18.—In consequence of an attack made by Cretan Christians upon a number of foreign officers, the commanders of the British, French and Italian warships have notified the insurgents of their intention to bombard at noon Thursday the village near Sittia, from whence the attack was made.

Canes, March 18.—The admirals of the combined fleets in Cretan waters have made a formal proclamation of the intention of the great powers to confer upon the island an autonomous government, subject to the suzerainty of the sultan. The French admiral has received instructions identical with those of his colleagues.

Constantinople, March 18.—In political circles here the opinion prevails that the blockade of the island of Crete by the fleets of the foreign powers would drive the Greeks to desperate acts on the frontiers of Macedonia and Epirus, from whence the news of a conflict is hourly expected.

PROSPECTS ARE SERIOUS.

Greek Nation Infected With the War Fever in Its Worst Form.

London, March 18.—A dispatch to the London Times from Athens states that a strict blockade of Crete was begun Wednesday. Apparently there will be no blockade of Greek ports for some time to come. The insurgents in Crete are building fortifications at various strategic points under the direction of Greek officers.

"The unthinking Greek multitude," says the Times correspondent, "has caught the war fever in its worst form. The whole nation is aroused in a manner never seen in any previous crisis, and the powers ought to neglect no possible means to secure Greek compliance. They should insist upon the Turkish garrisons leaving simultaneously with the Greek. This would satisfy the Greek amour propre. King George cannot order Col. Vassos to withdraw without risking his crown."

"If the powers would also sternly insist upon the withdrawal of both armies from the Thessalian frontier the danger of war would be obviated."

Dilemma for the Powers.

Athens, March 18.—The Asty, voicing the general opinion entertained here, declares that in the event of a blockade Greece will place the powers in a dilemma. They must either avow themselves the allies of Turkey or become witnesses of a duel whose issue is less certain than Europe wishes to believe. As yet the government has received no notice of an eventual blockade of Greek ports. It is announced that France has prohibited the shipment of arms or ammunition to Crete.

The historic battle flag, raised in March, 1821, by the bishop of the German monastery at Labria, in the Peloponnese, on the proclamation of the war of independence by Prince Alexander, will be formally entrusted to the regiment of the Crown Prince Constantine before its departure for Thessaly.

Russia Playing a Double Game.

London, March 18.—The correspondent of the Standard at Constantinople says: "An entente exists between the sultan and the czar, which will greatly modify Russia's co-operation with the other powers. The sultan, acting under pressure of public opinion, is making flattering overtures to England."

Love.

Love—self renouncing love—is religion, and nothing else can be worthy of the name; love, that is blind to self and that sees others only; love, that knows each true life lives for all and all for each; love, that mounts to heaven by stooping to the lowliest need of earth.—Rev. T. B. Johnson.

THE FIGHT ECHOES FROM CARSON CITY

FITZ REFUSES TO EXTEND COURTESIES.

Tells Corbett That He Cannot Have Another Match With Him, and the Californian Threatens to Punch Him on the Street—The Minor Battles.

Carson City, Nev., March 18.—Robert Fitzsimmons is now the champion heavy-weight pugilist of America. He defeated James J. Corbett at Carson City, Nev., Wednesday, thereby winning $15,000 and a side bet of $10,000. The attendance at the fight was about 4,000. Corbett had the apparent advantage during the greater part of the battle and seemed a certain victor. The blow which made him helpless was a terrific left-hand drive above the heart.

It was a victory of strength and recuperative power against science. Corbett fought a cautious battle, and showed himself a superior boxer. The same fight that he put up would have defeated any other man in the ring. For many rounds he avoided most of Fitz' terrible right swings with apparent success, and even up to the time that he received the knock-out it seemed probable that he would win. Fitz won because he is a man of iron, trained to endurance by years of careful living and constant work. He simply took the horrible punishment and lived through it, and watching his opportunity finished the battle by his dressing-room. He wore a big blue and pink dressing-gown, which has attended him at other fights. There was a roar of welcome for Fitz, but it was not as loud as the cheering which greeted Corbett a minute later. As Fitzsimmons passed the box in which his wife was seated he shook her by the hand and kissed her. Then he climbed into the ring, just before Corbett arrived, smiling and confident, to shake hands with Siler. Fitz walked along the ropes, tugging at them to see if they were taut enough, and he took a few sideways looks at Corbett. George Siler was introduced as referee.

The official time-keeper was William Muldoon, the great wrestler. In Fitz' corner were Roeber, the wrestler; Hickley and Stelzner, the boxers, and Julian, the brother-in-law. Louis Houseman kept time for Fitz. Corbett's seconds were McVey, White, Delaney, Woods and Donaldson. Jimmy Colville kept the time.

The two fighters stood up and faced the scattered crowd. Fitz was the first to throw off his bathrobe and begin to put on his gloves, which were of light pea-green. Corbett wore tanned gloves. A little while later they were red. He wore a red, white and blue belt with a green buckle, to show that he was an Irish-American. His trunks were green, and he wore white socks rolled down over the top of his shoes. Fitz wore dark blue trunks, and had a belt made of American flags. He is called an Australian, but he wants to be known as an American citizen.

The last round is thus described: Corbett had been vainly trying to land a knockout blow. Once he had Fitz on his knees waiting for the ninth second. Once he had him on the ropes, glaring bleakly up at the sun above the mountains. Once he had his head under his arm, with one hand free, and the only thing which was now wanting to show his own consistent superiority was the landing of the blow which would bring unconsciousness. The blow was never landed by Corbett.

The two, meeting at the ringing of the bell, went together. Fitzsimmons was on the defensive, but still occasionally sending in a futile stroke. After several harmless exchanges of this sort Corbett led straight for the Australian's little nut of a head, and, apparently without making the slightest effort to evade the blow, Bob stood up for it, took it, sent in his right on the head and followed with his left at the heart—a punch like that of a pie. "Then Corbett fell."

Round 14—Up to this Corbett had the better of the fighting. He hit Fitz whenever he pleased. His generalship was far superior to that of Fitz, and he got away and came in again with marvelous speed. He was tiring rapidly, however, and was far from having the stamina that Fitz showed. The latter had been punished fearfully throughout the preceding rounds, but he was still strong and game to the core. Fitz lost no time, and followed closely and sent his right to Corbett's face, causing him to totter again. He then put his left hand on the body, and was hot after his man, but Corbett gave ground to get away. Corbett came up strong, however, and put his left hand on Fitz' body. The latter put in a hard right on head. Jim was looking tired, his strength was going and he clinched. After the breakaway Fitz put a hard right and left on the jaw, and the men clinched again. Corbett fighting Fitz into the southwest corner of the ring. Jim put his left on the jaw, and Fitz sent his right to the chin with fearful force. The blow made Corbett lean backward and turned him partly around. He raised his guard a trifle, and, quick as lightning, Fitz shot his left glove on Corbett's body below the heart. The blow was one that would have shivered a plank, and Corbett's face paled instantly. His arms fell to his sides, his eyes closed and he fell forward to the ropes, catching them with his right hand. His face bore a look of intense agony, and he was evidently suffering the most excruciating pain. He tried to rise, but Fitz, with his right on him, caught him with a right jab on the chin. Corbett was not knocked out in the common acceptance of the word. He was not unconscious but the pain resulting from the blow under the heart was so great as to make him careless of anything else.

After the crowd broke into the ring there was a scene of the wildest confusion. Jim, now partially recovered, was tearing about like a wild bull trying to reach Fitz, with a dozen men trying to hold him back. Some pistols and "blackjacks" were drawn, and it looked as though it would require but the touch of the single trigger to make the place a powder mine. The Pinkerton detectives closed in, elbowing their way to the front, and in the midst of the uproar Corbett reached his conqueror and put out his hand. He had been full of fight and crazy for a continuance of the battle a moment before, but he had now recovered his head and was ready to do the correct thing. The new champion grasped it warmly and the crowd went wild again. He placed his left on Fitz' shoulder and said in a pleasant voice: "You have licked me, Fitz, licked me fair and square, and I want a return match."

"You'll get no return match from me," was the reply, as Fitz eyed him with a hard look. "I will not give you another fight."

"In that case," said Corbett, "I will punch your head the first time we meet on the street."

"In that case," was the quiet rejoinder, as the two men's faces nearly touched, "I will kill you."

In an interview after the fight Fitzsimmons said: "I am now 36 years of age, have fought more championship battles than any two men in ancient or modern ring annals, and shall retire. I will never fight again."

The fight in the afternoon between "Dai" Hawkins of San Francisco and Martin Flaherty of Lowell, Mass., was won by Hawkins in a punch, the battle being settled in the first few seconds of the opening round.

The fight between "Mysterious Billy" Smith of Boston and George Green of San Francisco, welter-weights, followed the Hawkins-Flaherty battle. Smith had the worst of it until the end of the eleventh round, when he gave up the fight, saying that his arm had been broken in the fourth round.

New Nicaragua Canal Treaty.

Washington, March 18.—Senor Rodriguez, the minister of the Greater Republic of Central America, comprising Nicaragua, Salvador and Guatemala, has been granted a leave of absence by his government, but has remained in the hope of negotiating a new treaty with the United States for the construction of the Nicaragua canal. It is learned in well informed diplomatic circles that he is anxious to negotiate a new treaty on the basis of the Frelinghuysen treaty, which was pending when Mr. Cleveland was inaugurated in 1885 and was withdrawn from the senate by him. It is probable that the state department is fully advised as to the minister's wishes, but he has not yet been invited to enter upon negotiations.

Filibustering Must Be Stopped.

Washington, March 18.—There are indications that Cuban filibustering is not in favor at the White House. It is believed that President McKinley and Secretary Sherman will oppose it as strongly as did Cleveland and Olney. The President and a number of his advisers had quite a prolonged conference on the subject of filibustering expeditions, and finally reached a conclusion that for the present at least clearance papers should be refused suspected filibustering vessels until their owners cleared themselves by affidavit or otherwise of the suspicion attaching to them.

Bank-Wrecker Is Released.

Sioux Falls, S. D., March 18.—On Wednesday Charles Mosher, the wrecker of the Capital national bank of Lincoln, Neb., and up to the time of his arrest one of the leading politicians at that state, was released from the penitentiary here, having, with the good-time allowances, served out his sentence of five years' imprisonment. The actual time spent by Mosher in the penitentiary was three years and four months. He will go to Omaha to plead to other indictments growing out of the same case.

Methodists and Education.

Bloomington, Ill., March 18.—The national educational conference closed Wednesday afternoon. The session closed with the adoption of a series of resolutions that the Methodist church should take a broader view and plan of educational work in the future.

MR. FRINK DENIES THE BRIBERY TALK

MILWAUKEE ASSEMBLYMAN TELLS HIS STORY.

Says No Conversation Such as Outlined Occurred—Did Not Offer to Sell His Vote on the Medical Bill—The House Called on the Church Taxation Measure.

Madison, Wis., March 18.—[Special]—The committee chosen to investigate the charge of bribery made against Assemblyman Frink of Milwaukee, who it was charged, offered to sell his vote in the medical bill matter for $100, met again this morning, and examined Mr. Frink, who said he had never been approached with a bribe.

He had several conversations with Dr. Seaman, he said, but denied that he ever offered to sell his vote. Being a Christian Scientist, he was opposed to the medical bill, as it would wipe them all out. He gave a history of the interviews he had with Dr. Seaman, during which the latter said he tried to sell his vote, and stated that no such talk as was alleged had taken place.

A bill to establish a sub-state fair in Chippewa Falls caused some discussion in the assembly. Mr. Agen of Superior, Mr. Buffington of Eau Claire, and Mr. Stanley of Chippewa Falls, urged the bill, which, at the close of the discussion, was ordered to a third reading.

The first call of the house was made on the motion to read Assemblyman McDonald's bill taxing church property a third time. Many members tried to dodge the matter but were brought in by the sergeant at arms. The bill was killed by a vote of 34 to 38.

Victory for Wisconsin Doctors.

Madison, Wis., March 18.—There seems good prospect that the medical profession of Wisconsin will at last receive the authorization of a state board of medical examiners. Wednesday the assembly by an overwhelming vote rode down all opposition and ordered the medical bill to a third reading. In the upper house the measure providing that prison-made goods be labeled, was passed.

ONLY FOUR SAVED FROM SEA.

Terrible Story from the Sea—Starvation and Madness.

New York, March 18.—The World has a story that the schooner Hilda came into port Tuesday night bearing with her a story horrible even in the annals of the Atlantic ocean. She carried in her cabin four passengers whom she had picked up in a boat Monday, ten miles off shore.

One of the rescued men was Capt. Jules Berri, one of the best-known commanders of the Havre branch of the French line, and now long transferred to the West Indian service. When he was able to gasp out some words, he said: "There were thirty-seven souls on that boat when we abandoned the St. Nazaire. Of all those men and women, we four are the only ones left alive. The others starved or were frozen where they sat. They died in all ways. They sunk, dropped off one by one, except where they were mad, and then some jumped into the sea and ended in that way. The captain was the first to go. The men were quiet enough mostly, until they saw the women die; then they seemed all at once to get raving, stark mad."

Bradley May Be Senator.

Frankfort, Ky., March 18.—The scheme of the Democrats to elect Gov. Bradley to the senate in place of Dr. Hunter, the caucus nominee of the Republican party, assumed definite form on the arrival of ex-Congressman Stone, Wat Hardin and other leaders who are openly working and advocating the election of Gov. Bradley. They say that it is a common ground on which the Democracy can meet and appeals most strongly to the gold Democrats, who in voting for Gov. Bradley will be voting their principles; that there is no hope of electing a Democrat, and that in the election of Bradley to the senate a vacancy in the governor's chair will be caused which will be filled by a Democrat.

In the Michigan Legislature.

Lansing, Mich., March 18.—There was a long fight in the senate Wednesday over the bill providing for the appointment by the governor of a state board of nine medical examiners, representing all schools. If bills recommended in the senate become laws the university will get $30,000 for a law library building, and $25,000 will be appropriated for the relief of the sufferers by the fire which wiped out the villages of Ontonagon last fall.

Postmaster at Chicago Resigns.

Chicago, March 18.—Postmaster Hesing has resigned. His resignation was forwarded to Washington Monday, to take immediate effect. Candidate Hesing has devoted his every energy to the fight for the mayor's chair and the postoffice will presumably be in the hands of Colonel Hubbard, his late first assistant. The vacancy will be filled by the appointment of a republican.

BELOIT COLLEGE IS SHORT OF MONEY

REVENUE CUT DOWN AND SQUEEZE FELT.

Work of Raising Money is Begun, and Faculty Will Contribute Part of Salaries—Death of a Magnolia Man—Some Other News Gathered From About Old Rock.

The trustees of Beloit college have given notice that it will be necessary to raise $12,000 a year to add to the resources of the institution or else all but the main building will have to be closed. The trouble comes from a falling off in income. One piece of real estate in Chicago, given by Dr. Pearson, formerly brought $6,000 a year, but it now pays only $2,000. An effort will be made to raise $3,000 in Beloit annual subscriptions to tide over the emergency, while the churches in the rest of the state will be asked to raise the rest. The faculty have pledged part of their salaries to aid in raising the amount. The trustees have been successful in raising only about $90,000 toward the $250,000 needed to secure the $250,000 endowment from Dr. Pearson. It is not expected that the remaining $160,000 can be raised within less than three years.

THE WEEK AT MAGNOLIA.

Sudden Death of Patrick Lyons—Fred Webb is No More.

Magnolia, March 18—Died, at his home in Magnolia, March 13, 1897, of heart failure, Patrick Lyons, aged about sixty years. The funeral services were held on the 17th inst. at the Catholic church in Brodhead, after which the remains were laid to rest in the Brodhead cemetery. Frank Green fell last Tuesday, hurting his broken leg quite badly. Hattie Townsend is teaching the last week of school on account of the illness of Bert Townsend, he being taken with quinsy some time ago. It has taken a diphtheria form. Lulah Cole has been quite sick. Mrs. Ariel Worthing's children are better. Quite a company of young people attended the party at Will Lett's last Tuesday night. Died, at the home of his parents in the town of Magnolia, March 10, of pneumonia, Fred Webb in the nineteenth year of his age. The remains were interred in the Albany cemetery. Mr. Clark of Janesville, was here Friday and purchased a span of horses of McCoy & Mattice, a span of John Kemmer and one horse of George Christman.

South Clinton News.

South Clinton, March 18—Edwin and Clarence Dresser came out from Beloit Friday night and remained till Sabbath afternoon. E. L. Benedict spent an afternoon at the mid-winter fair. Mr. Jacket is now able to work some. The Anderson district are having vacation of some five weeks. Mr. and Mrs. Solon Cooper and son and Calvin Johnson and family visited at C. J. Dresser's last Saturday. It is reported that a meadow lark has been seen and a robin heard. We pity the poor little fellows these days. E. L. Benedict and wife, Miss Sarah and Julia Benedict and C. J. and W. E. Dresser attended an aunt's funeral at Roscoe, Ill., not long ago. John Cleghorn's friends will be sorry to know that he is very sick at his home in Clinton with erysipelas. Mr. and Mrs. Torson have a young son. Will Williams has returned from British Columbia.

South Turtle News.

South Turtle, March 18—May Crockett is enjoying a vacation these days. The neighborhood prayer meeting at J. C. Crockett's was a success. Lottie Murray closed school for a vacation last week. Cold March days these. Tunis Nelson is some better so he is able to be up and dressed. Rev. Mr. Moore, of Clinton, will speak in the Murray school house Sabbath afternoon at 3 o'clock. Milkman Gilbertson is having a tussle with rheumatism. Frank Hammond's brother-in-law, Captain Cleghorn, is having a hard siege with erysipelas at his boarding place in Clinton.

Indian Ford News.

Indian Ford, March 18—Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Chamberlain have returned home, after an extended visit with their daughter, Mrs. C. Goodrich, near Fort Atkinson. Mrs. Maggie Hallett is visiting relatives in Janesville. Some of the Ford sports are looking for ducks. Mrs. John Scarelliff and children took tea with Mrs. C. Hudson last Wednesday. Miss Maggie Flarity is visiting Ford friends for a few days. Mr. J.

Jones—Goodnough.

Evansville, Wis., March 18—Edw. rd Jones and Miss Georgia Goodnough were married at the M. E. parsonage in this city, by Rev. G. W. White, Tuesday, March 16. Mr. Jones is proprietor of a new restaurant, which he recently opened in the Hynes building, having moved here from Janesville, while the bride's parents reside in Baraboo. She has been a great deal with friends in this city and at Janesville.

HE WILL RUN FOR MAYOR.

John Thoroughgood Says He Means What He Says.

Ex-Mayor Thoroughgood will be a candidate for mayor this spring, regardless of the action of either of the city conventions. He insists that he is making this announcement before the conventions are held that he is not "running independent," but as a citizens candidate. He says he does not ask for convention endorsement, but would accept it. By request his statement is again published.

To the Voters of the City of Janesville—In making the following announcement, I do it as a citizen of Janesville who is close touch with everything pertaining to the welfare and good government of this city. I do not have the desire to enter the race for mayor and stand the usual annoyance, excitement, etc., consequent on nomination by caucus, and should hail with pleasure the passage of such a law as has been introduced in the present session of the legislature, thereby doing away with many of the unpleasant features as are usually practiced on these occasions.

After giving this matter my serious thought, I have decided to run this race alone, and am a candidate for the office of mayor on a citizen ticket. I do not feel swelled up in my own estimation nor do I presume in my fitness for the office over other of our citizens. This is simply a business proposition, prompted by many of my friends, and I therefore ask the suffrage of the voters of Janesville for the office of Mayor, promising you the same care and attention in the management of your affairs, as I give to my business.

Yours Truly,
JOHN THOROUGHGOOD.

WHERE BEAUTY REIGNS.

The Big Store's Opening Yesterday a Maze of Loveliness.

Beautiful dry goods, sweet scented flowers, potted plants and delightful music, made a combination which captivated every one of the fair sex who visited the Big Store opening. Crowds of ladies visited J. M. Bostwick & Sons' store yesterday, and the spring opening will be long remembered as a success far beyond anything ever seen in the city. The entire store was decorated in a manner calculated to impress its grandeur on one's mind, and the efforts were entirely successful. Smith's orchestra discoursed sweet music during the afternoon and evening. The south display window was filled with a rare combination of silks and dress goods, the highest kind of novelties and to be found at no other store in the city. The large center window was almost a fairland, beautiful evening silks and satin with garnitures and pearl effects in laces and lovely all-over chiffons, embroidered batistes, fancy gauzes, etc. People little dreamed that such magnificent articles could be found in Janesville. The north window was filled with upholstery materials pretty woven tapestries, silk and wool brocades, etc. The back ground in each of the windows was made up with beautiful lace curtains and the entire store throughout was draped with hundred of pieces of summer fabrics such as "Sheer" organdies, embroidered muslins, fancy silks and combination of silk and wool goods with appropriate trimmings. By no means the least important of the opening display was the carpet and curtain department upstairs. It was a surprise in many ways to people. The entire store covers 2,800 feet of floor space and one can form an idea of the magnitude of this concern. A city four times the size of Janesville could well feel proud of such a business house.

FAVOR THE GOOD ROADS LAW

Constitutional Amendment Endorsed by the Wisconsin Press Association.

The following resolution, reported by a committee composed of E. C. Ooe of the Whitewater Register; E. A. Booth of the Monroe Sentinel; and W. H. Bridgman of the Hurley Republican, was unanimously adopted:

"Your committee appointed to consider the matter of endorsing the proposed constitutional amendment permitting state aid for wagon-making, would respectfully report that we cordially favor such endorsement by this association as the subject is one of the greatest possible importance and opportunity will necessarily be given in submitting such amendment, for the fullest general discussion and for final free and unbiased expression of the will of the people thereupon.

"Therefore, be it resolved by this association that the proposed constitutional amendment is a measure of wise public policy, and has our cordial approval, and we commend the same to the favorable action of the legislature."

NO CASH FOR HEIRS THE COURT SAYS

JANESVILLE PEOPLE LOSE THE SUIT.

Galer Children will Not Get the Share Claimed Against the $50,000 Estate of Their Uncle at Hampton, Iowa.—The Case Was an Interesting One.

Charles Galer and his sisters Clara, Cora and Mary, who reside at 54 Center street, this city, will not get their share of a fortune of $50,000.

They brought suit in the courts of Franklin county, Ia., several months ago against the second wife of Dr. J. B. Galer, to whom upon his death he left his entire fortune. Local relatives of the deceased claimed that he was demented when his will was made out, but this condition the court overruled and decided the case in favor of the second Mrs. Galer.

The trial occupied over two weeks and attracted considerable attention from the amount involved and other peculiar circumstances of the case. Dr. Galer came to Hampton in 1871 from Warren, Ill., it being supposed at that time that he was worth somewhere from twelve to fifteen thousand dollars. He was a widower at the time with no children, and in 1872 was married to Mrs. Galer, who survives him. The doctor died in 1895, leaving no children and no will, and the evidence showed that in less than two years before he died he was possessed of property amounting to about $50,000 mostly in notes and mortgages.

Heirs Get Nothing.

Immediately after his death Mrs. Galer took out letters of administration upon the estate, and filed her inventory, stating that the assets were "merely nominal." Upon the filing of this inventory the plaintiffs in the case, nephews and nieces of Dr. Galer, commenced this action in equity, calling upon Mrs. Galer for an accounting. The evidence showed that Dr. Galer from time to time within two years of his death had deeded over all his real estates and assigned all his notes, mortgages and personal property to Mrs. Galer. Some of these assignments were made within three or four weeks of his death, and the defendants claimed that all these transfers of his property were obtained by fraud and undue influence and that the doctor's mind was so impaired that he was incapable of transacting business. It was further alleged that many of the signatures of Dr. Galer were not genuine, but the court found against all of these propositions and Mrs. Galer's claim to the entire estate is by his decision confirmed. It is said that local heirs will take the case to the supreme court.

GOOD FRIENDS.

Keep the Heart of Humanity Warm.

The following extract from a letter may be published without a breach of courtesy, as it refers to a matter which will interest some readers who have been considering the dismissal of coffee in their families and the adoption of Postum, the health coffee:

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich.,.....
Postum Cereal Co. (Lim.), Battle Creek, Mich.:

GENTLEMEN: I am pleased with the sale and the satisfaction given to our customers in the use of Postum Cereal Food Coffee. I did not wish to venture out on this article, as I had no faith in it when first shown me. To my surprise the first case sold readily and a little estimate shows a sale of 462 packages in 67 days. I am using it in my home with perfect satisfaction. Since the use of Postum in place of coffee neither wife nor myself have old heartburn. Please find enclosed, &c., &c., &c.

MARTIN C. GOUSEN.

A reliable grocer will never offer a cheap or weak imitation of a genuine original article because he happens to make a little extra profit. Postum Cereal coffee is ordered, that you get Postum and not a spurious imitation offered as "just as good."

Free Stop-Over at Washington.

On all through tickets between the east, west, north and south, reading via Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, a stop-over at Washington can be secured, without extra charge for railroad fare, by depositing the ticket, upon arrival at Washington, with the B. & O. station ticket agent at that point. Washington is always attractive to visitors, and particularly so while congress is in session. This arrangement for stop-over privilege will doubtless be appreciated by the public, and will bring to the National Capital many travelers to view its superb public buildings, monuments, museums and thoroughfares.

A Peculiar Case.

A Saturday last a young man of this city was taken with a rare and dangerous form of disease of both eyes. Not until late yesterday did he seek the aid of our eye surgeon. Dr. McPherson examined him and found a condition in which the eye balls are becoming swollen and hard as a base ball on account of water collecting on the inside of the eye. The man has suffered untold agony and Dr. McPherson fears that the eye balls will have to be cut open to let the water out. The disease is very rare and always causes blindness unless carefully treated.

THE BIG STORE 20, 22, 24, 26, S. MAIN ST. JANESVILLE, WIS.
WE KEEP THE QUALITY UP

A Subject For Women

That they are particularly interested in just now, CARPETS! It pays to think about it while you have time. You can't hurry through it with satisfaction. Our new carpets are in, you can look them over leisurely, leave your order, have them made carefully before the rush, and delivered at your pleasure; they cost no more, perhaps less.

Organdies, Tissus Brode, London Lappets, Chatillon Stripes, Mimosa, Spiral Dimity, &c.

Not a Day Too Early

But early enough. We invite an early inspection of these spring beauties. You will be glad to see what the season of '97 has to offer. If you buy now you will be glad later on when the bright spring days find you prepared to enjoy them, and all done without a bit of hurry or worry.

Embroideries--

It is a pleasure to muse among the new embroideries. It is the ladies' privilege to tumble them about and we enjoy seeing them do it. We especially invite every lady in town to toss these dainty trifles to their heart's content. The little prices on them should make them all the more interesting.

A Bouquet of Spring Beauties.

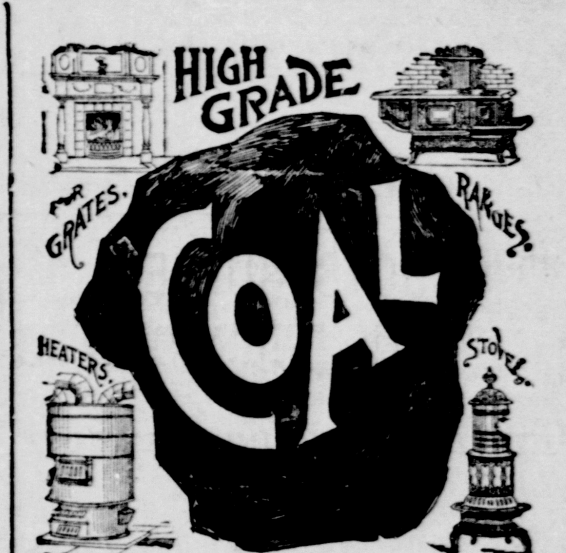

It is an odd title perhaps, but an appropriate name for first offering of spring goods. There is an array of spring loveliness in this store that is heart warming, like the first sunburst after a storm, you'll forget bleak winter and forgive its frosts because it is followed by such sweets as these first harbingers of spring.

A Sensible Spring Precaution

Is a MACKINTOSH and UMBRELLA. Thus prepared you may defy the changeable spring time. Time was when these simple wet-weather protectors cost so much that we couldn't all afford them. They are a luxury no longer. Progress in manufacture and our prices place them within the reach of all.

Grand Opening--

ON WEDNESDAY, MARCH 17, we will have a formal opening of our large showings of spring goods. In connection, the agent of a prominent Philadelphia manufacturer will be at the store, and display the newest things in silk waists, spring jackets, separate skirts and two-piece suits in three styles: The boero, Eaton and coat effects. It will be an excellent opportunity to become familiar with fashions for spring. The store will be appropriately trimmed and an orchestra will lead inspiration.

Hair Coloring.

A correspondent, who writes that she is still young, asks if she can be told of anything "that will turn her hair white." It is said that white hair is now very fashionable. This may be true, as a lady recently returned from abroad reports the great prevalence at fashionable gatherings there of silver tresses arranged in pompadour style, glittering with any amount of real gems set in various unique forms, and that many of the ladies so coiffured possessed notably youthful forms and faces. Perhaps, after having destroyed the natural color of the hair by experimenting with advertised lotions, women now propose to try the effect of white locks. One would think that after seeing on every side the effects of hair coloring, the seared and streaked locks, the black and tan heads, the heads that look like a hurriedly prepared dish of scrambled eggs, and the dead looking Patti and Cleopatra craniums, women would learn the wisdom of letting nature alone in respect of their tresses.

"Ye cannot change one hair black or white"—that is, successfully. No one ever did this yet, for, let the artificial color look ever so fine for the time being, the face of the wearer in her colored hair will never look right or natural beside this forced production, the environments being abnormal and false. The shade of the hair that nature bestows is the only one that goes well with the features, complexion and eyes. The face of a little child changes as it grows up, and from youth to womanhood and old age nature herself superintends the necessary changes in the hair. "An authority on hair" is giving in one of our evening papers in all good faith advice to young ladies who "wish to lighten their hair a trifle," recommending peroxide of hydrogen for this result. It is a sinful pity that this suggestion should thus be given, for the natural gloss, the natural color and finally the hair itself will most assuredly disappear if this foolish advice is followed.—New York Post.

TIPS ABOUT FEMININE BEAUTY

After All, It Isn't the Quality That Brings Husbands.

Men are forever talking about pretty women, as if their prettiness were the sole thing that could make the sex enduring. As their talk is not confined to age, race or condition, it might be supposed to be the voice of nature, though it is really the voice of misunderstanding. If men were only drawn to women by their prettiness, as they would put it, most of us would live and die in celibacy; for, gallantry aside, feminine comeliness or good looks are the exception, not the rule. All the talk about pretty women is meaningless and a sham. That men are drawn to women, as women are to men, is one of the first things that we learn from within. Old as time, the fact is always fresh to every generation. But that woman's particular appearance constitutes any part of the phenomenon is absurd. If she be not deformed or insane, she is well enough, and will achieve her incantation, whatever it be. Apart from any and all serious relation to her, the circumstances that she is fair or dark, short or tall, thin or plump, blue-eyed or black, makes not a whit of difference to us. We like or dislike her independently of her looks. We may think of these in the beginning; but if we incline to her, we forget all about them, and cannot remember that we thought of them at first. A woman, unless in her school days, never prates of handsome men. No more should we of pretty women, whose prettiness never counts after casual acquaintance is over. It is mere man and woman, outside of accidents of externality, that grow into friends, or lovers, or companions for life, as circumstances may direct, all under nature's invisible, inscrutable guidance.—San Francisco Argonaut.

Cutting Stone.

Those who have indulged in deep-sea fishing know how the fishline cuts deeply into the hard wood of the gunwale as it is hauled in while taut. Even an iron protection, after a time, shows the wear of the rope, which is comparatively soft. This gives a clue to the invention of an Albany quarryman for cutting stone. Instead, however, of hemp he proposes to use wire rope, and with this he will carve the marble and stone right out of its native bed. The wire is wound in strands and has a very rough surface, powerful machinery gives a strong and steady strain, and the stone, yielding to the constant wear, parts, with smooth edges. It would be easy enough to cut the blocks after they are removed from the quarry, but where the cleverness of the inventor comes in is in devising mechanism that can be applied to the stone while in the quarry. This is effected by sinking two parallel channels in the quarry to a depth a little greater than that of the lowest level of the stone to be cut. The channels may be from 20 to 100 feet, or more, apart. At the bottom of each is made a small hole to receive the foot ends of the shafts of the machine. This is the only preparation of the quarry that is necessary. The ropes, which are coiled on huge drums, are then passed around the channels, and as the drums revolve the cutting proceeds. Suitable brakes are provided for the regulation of the speed and pressure. The ordinary speed of the strand is 800 feet a minute, so that a mile length of it passes in six minutes. While the strand is moving crushed stone or chilled shot and water can be introduced to increase the attrition. Far better, however, than either of these is a composition obtained from the tailings of a magnetic iron separator, which costs about one-tenth as much as the chilled shot. It does not leave the lines caused by the shot, and it can be used over and over again.

To Prevent Sunburn.

Never wash your face in water more than twice a day, especially where it is impossible to procure at a moment's notice distilled or even rain water. You can soften water by means of a lump of borax or a teaspoonful of strong ammonia in the water jug. But the face must not be left dirty. Have a bottle of cream of cucumber and before going into the sun just dab the face over with it very lightly. Do the same on returning, but this time wipe it off directly, and see the dirt you remove with the cream. If you follow this advice this summer you will know naught of sunburn, freckles or undue redness of the face.

A Test for Seasickness.

Many people have a genuine curiosity to know if they would be seasick in case they should take an ocean voyage. An easy way to put the matter to a test is to stand before the ordinary bureau mirror that turns in its frame, and let some one move it slowly and slightly at first, and gradually growing faster, while you look fixedly at your own reflection. If you feel no effect whatever from it, the chances are that you can stand an ordinary sea voyage without any qualm.—San Francisco Post.

Outside the Church.

The Christian outside the church is in an unnatural position. He is always liable to topple over. He is trying to get on without all the advantages that Christ and all the apostles enjoyed and needed. He is deprived of much that God has planned for the help of the human soul.—Rev. Wallace Nutting.

Summer Millinery.

Straw hats are not exactly in demand as yet, but the first installment of summer millinery has blossomed out in the shops without any regard for weather, and rough, silky straws are more abundant than ever. Vegetable silk is a new fabric in millinery and is used for plaits of various widths and colors, which have a very glossy effect. Ribbon braids 3 inches wide, edged with a braid of another color, are used in both hats and bonnets, and wide braids in the form of plaits are fashioned into hats over a wire frame. Vegetable silk plaits are rather expensive, so there is a mixture of hemp and silk, which is firm and wiry and so thin and light that it is rushed under the brim of some of the large hats. This new braid is said to be made of the raw silk as it comes from the cocoon. Wood silk fiber is another material which appears in the new braids.

Lightness seems to have been the main effect of the designers in hats this season, and it can be a boon to all woman-kind if the milliners do not offset this by loading the hats with trimming. Japanese rush and Japanese straw help out the variety in lightweight effects, and panama hats will be much worn for cycling.

Large hats are even larger than they were in the fall, and the crowns are medium broad and medium in height. The brim is usually narrower at the back than at the front, but some shapes widen at the sides where the brim turns up, and others turn up at the back, with plumes underneath the brim. There are fluted brims in every shape imaginable, but the old sailor shape in the new light braids bids fair to head the list of popular hats.

The semiannual prediction that bonnets are to be worn more than hats has cropped up again; but, as usual, it is a doubtful one, since hats are sure to be more popular in summer. Among the novelties is a rather startling shape, with a bell crown and a brim much wider at the sides than either back or front. A new idea advanced in bonnets is that we are to have cape effects, not exactly in the old style, however, as they stand up instead of falling over the neck, but there will be bonnets and bonnets, and width is to be one conspicuous feature of them. One little shape is like a Flemish peasant woman's capote, with a square crown and a 4 inch brim. Wide ribbons, plaited chiffon, lace and flowers in great profusion will constitute the main features of hat trimming, and black hats will be very popular, despite the fact that brilliant color characterizes the finish of straw hats.—New York Sun.

It Aided the Colonies.

King George took off his crown and let the cool air play with his fevered brow.

"You say," he remarked musingly, "that Washington, Adams, Jefferson and Hancock are the four leaders in this rebellion."

Lord North bowed his head and again referred to the dispatches from America.

"They are, sire," he replied.

George III. puffed out his cheeks. "A set of adventurers," he cried, contemptuously; "I'll crush them with a single hand."

Lord North slowly shook his head. "You forget one thing, sire," he gravely remarked.

George III. scratched his nose reflectively with his sceptre.

"What is it?" he asked, abruptly.

"You forget, sire," returned the minister, fastening his Majesty with a glittering eye, "that it is absolutely impossible for one king to get away with two pairs."

And from that moment it was felt in Court circles that the Royalist cause was hopeless.—New York World.

The Poor Romans.

"It is wonderful," said young Mrs. Torkins, "to think of the progress the world has made."

"Yes," said her husband, "one can't help seeing evidences of progress everywhere. If you walk out on the streets you see electric cars and electric lights everywhere."

"Yes, whenever I see an electric light I do feel so sorry for the poor Romans. How they ever managed to read anything by the light of those spluttery Roman candles is more than I can imagine."—Washington Star.

NOT AFTER JINNY.

This Settled, the Traveler Was Made Welcome.

I was riding along a country road in the vicinity of Memphis when I came to a newly painted frame house which gave such shining evidence of prosperity that it was an attraction to the barren landscape about it. A long, lean man, stoop-shouldered and ungainly, sat on a post in front of the spick-and-span doorstep and held an old rifle across his knees, at the same time that he peered from under his shaggy brows in all directions, as if he were in ambush and expected to be surprised.

I wanted several favors at this man's hands if possible, one of them being supper, another an invigorating draught of moonshine whisky, and finally, and the only demand I was certain of a route to Memphis by that particular road.

"Evening," I said in as jocular a tone as I could assume. "Guarding the new paint?"

"Evenin', stranger," he answered, as short as pie crust.

"Could you tell me how to reach Memphis tonight?" I asked.

"Foller yer nose!"

"Then I am on the right road?"

"Git!"

He leveled the rifle at me, and my horse shied at the sudden movement. At the same time I heard a cackling laugh through the half-open door.

I was disconcerted, but hardly alarmed, as it was evident that the man was nothing worse than a crank, so I assumed an air of injured innocence and asked:

"Do you take me for a sheriff or a revenue officer, because I am neither one nor the other?"

"No, young feller, I take you for one of them silly gentry as want ter come courtin' my gal Jinny, since they heard tell that her mother's step-uncle, Job Morrill, left her a hundred dollars in his will!"

At this moment the door opened wide and the homeliest girl I ever saw in my life filled the space with her ample circumference. She smiled at me so sweetly that I felt it imperative to hasten on my journey, or let the old man shoot me on the spot.

"Pop, you needn't be afraid of that un; he's sassy enough ter look out fer himself," she chirped.

"So be, mister, ef Jinny favors yer, and et ain't her money you ar ter, come rite in and take suthin'."

Again my intelligent horse shied, and before I could control him I was half way to Memphis, and out of reach of the old man's rifle and the inhospitable imputation of wanting "Jinny's" money.

Funny Little Japanese Women.

The all-conquering bicycle has invaded Japan, and it is now a familiar sight in the land of the jinrikisal. The Europeans take to it kindly, and the little brown men and women are equally enthusiastic. The government has equipped many of its postmen with roadsters, especially those who deliver mail in the suburbs or in the country districts. In each brigade a bicycle corps has been formed who are daily drilled in about the same style as similar organizations in the armies of Europe. The Japanese people themselves still regard the wheel as a great curiosity, but are beginning to both master it and manufacture it. Some of the Japanese women have adopted a queer bicycle costume that is a combination of bloomers with the native dress. It is neither Japanese nor European. Combined with the upper part of the kamona costume the Japanese clothe their nether limbs in what are neither knickerbockers, trousers, zouaves nor bloomers. The ludicrous effect is heightened by the girl having the national habit of turning the toes in, developed to its largest extent. All that you see when she passes you is a pair of round and pretty heels wabbling in an uncertain manner, and a little body coiled up that makes you think of a gay little monkey on the top of a pole.—Chicago Chronicle.

The Traveler's Right to Fresh Air.

A wise justice in Lyons, Wayne county, has decided that a railway in this state is bound to carry fresh air free, as well as bicycles. A woman traveling on a train complained that the air was bad. The conductor tried to open the window in the usual way, but was unable to do so, and refused to get a crowbar to pry it open, whereupon the suffering woman smashed the glass with her parasol. The conductor then had her taken into custody on a charge of insanity. A doctor examined her and pronounced her rational. Her defense was that she had paid for her transportation and was entitled to fresh air with it. The justice thought so too, and discharged her. It is possible that this precedent may cause all the railway companies considerable trouble. If it be good law that when car windows are not in working order the passenger may smash the glass, better care will be taken to see that all the windows in the car can be readily moved up and down.—Auburn Advertiser.

Willing to Reciprocate.

Professor Dusel of Bonn one day noticed his wife placing a large bouquet on his desk.

"What does all this mean?" he asked.

"Why, this is the anniversary of your marriage," replied Mrs. Dusel.

"Is that so? Well, let me know when yours comes round, and I'll reciprocate."—Fliegende Blaetter.

Pyramid Pile Cure Cures Piles Quickly.

People go along for years suffering with piles. They try this and that and the other thing; from carrying a buckeye to getting treatment from a physician. They obtain temporary relief, maybe, but they are never quite cured. A little strain in lifting, excessive fatigue, a little constipation or a little diarrhoea and the piles come back. They don't seem to amount to much, but they banish sleep and appetite. No position is comfortable. There is intense local pain and that dreadful feeling of weight in the perineum.

Maybe in the early stages some of the many salves on sale will afford temporary relief. If the case is of long standing there is only one speedy and sure remedy. It is Pyramid Pile Cure. Even in light cases it is the safest thing to use. Other applications may cure and may not. Pyramid Cure is always certain, always reliable, always brings comfort at once. Its prompt use saves months of severe suffering. In extreme cases it will save surgical operations and their attendant dangers and discomforts. It is better than a knife. Will cure easier, quicker and safer. Thousands have used it. Thousands have been cured by it. The cost is trifling compared with what it does. The price is 50 cents. Most anybody would gladly pay ten dollars to be rid of piles.

Druggists sell Pyramid Pile Cure. If yours hasn't it he will get it for you from the Pyramid Drug Co., of Albion, Mich. (sole manufacturers.)

PRESS AND PRIZE FIGHTS.

There is in many quarters objection to the printing of prize fight news. The objection is well founded only in cases where editorial countenance has been given to fighters and their exhibitors. It is idle to say that a setting forth of the facts in any case of law breaking is equivalent to giving encouragement and support. As well might the newspapers omit all reference to crime as the pulpits to forego all reference to sin. Ignorance of the crime and wickedness that comes to the surface each day will hardly work a reform. Only by means of thorough knowledge can effective remedies be applied.

The plan to educate deaf mutes in city school instead of in the state institution at Delavan, seems to find no favor except in Milwaukee, where the school board is greedy for the $125 per capita allowed for such pupils.

How would it do to make the democrats in office, who are claiming protection under Mr. Cleveland's extensions of the civil service rules, pass the same examination required of outside applicants for the same position.

A state which pays off $29,000,000 of its mortgage indebtedness in seven years, as Kansas has done, notwithstanding the hard times, is all right. What it now especially needs is to shake off populist control.

President McKinley wasted no words in telling congress exactly what it was called in extraordinary session to do, and the people have a right to expect that congress will waste no time in doing it.

Milwaukee is growing modest. The bill removing the capitol from Madison to Milwaukee was killed on recommendation of the Milwaukee delegation. The fact that a $1,000,000 outlay by Milwaukee was demanded as one condition may prove a partial explanation.

The legislature is likely to make short work of the bill providing for a state purchasing agent. It merely creates another salaried office without any necessity.

When the democrats sneer at the Dingley tariff bill as "only another McKinley bill" they pay the new bill a decided compliment.

Wonder if any of the Nevada tourists, except the managers of the big skin-game, think they got the worth of their money.

Governor Hastings of Pennsylvania, is also a man with common sense and a stout backbone. May his kind increase.

Corbett has been saying prize fights are not dangerous. That last jolt may have changed his mind.

CHICAGO MARKETS BY WIRE.

Chicago, March 18.—[Special]—Occasionally speculative propositions are presented which if taken advantage of are pretty sure to make money. About three months ago I advised buying corn and selling wheat, because the difference was unprecedented and abnormal. Such a trade would have netted 10 or 12 cents a bushel. Today we are confronted with another abnormal condition, which I have never seen before in twenty-five years, namely that winter wheat in western markets is twenty to twenty-five cents above the price of spring wheat. It has ruled twelve to fifteen cents above spring wheat for some time, but I did not at that time consider it paramount, as speculative conditions seemed to be pressing prices down. The difference is growing more pronounced every day, and there is relief in sight while the liquidation of long May wheat is over and the question is pressing as to how the demand for winter wheat which cannot be filled is to be supplied. There is only one answer: Spring wheat must be substituted and it can be obtained only here in Chicago where there is practically less than seven million bushels of it. Cash wheat is even now held at a premium over May and there will be very little of it delivered on May contracts and May wheat should command a premium of ten cents over July. A destruction of the winter wheat might create a demand for July wheat which will outstrip the consumptive demand but if so May wheat will advance too. I do not advise selling July wheat yet but prefer to wait. The war and crop sensations are sure to come. The Cincinnati price current concurs our views, that no one can tell about winter wheat yet. I am going to quit the bear side of May wheat and incline to the bull side; probably a day or two too early, but not very much out of the way, as it looks.

THE BEE NO ROBBER.

A Plea for an Insect Which Produces Food for the Gods.

Your bee is the true philosopher and takes the goods the gods provide wherever it can find them, says Lippincott's. It is true that it cannot make a silk purse out of a sow's ear, nor something out of nothing. But it can and does take this nectar of the flowers, which so far as we know serves no other useful purpose whatever, and converts it into a food so delicious that its synonym is ambrosia—food for the gods. Stop and think of this for a moment, for it is something that no other creature does. For each of the domestic animals the farmer must sow and reap and make provision constantly for its needs. The bee alone is its own provider, up in the morning with the sun and away over the fields in search of its breakfast and caring nothing whether it finds it in the garden of its owner or that of his neighbor. Not only does it forage for its breakfast, but for something to bring home as well. It is ever the "robber bee," yet leaves him from whom it filches no poorer than before. Some men can never get this through their heads. They see a neighbor's bees pasturing in their apple trees when they are white with bloom and fancy they are the losers, though how they cannot tell. If the "robbers" come upon some of the rich juices that ooze out where the robins and cat birds, and maybe the wasps, have punctured the fruit they straightway go mad and would wreak dire vengeance if they dared. For, notice this, your bee-hater, the man who does not believe in bees and who thinks they do much harm and no good, is always afraid of them.

Influence of the Wheel.

An influence of the wheel noted and commented upon in the New York Times is its bearing upon domestic felicity. "Wives and husbands, notably those who have reached the early 40's and beyond, have found a bond of companionship in the bicycle that is as strong as it is oftentimes unconscious. The advent of children and the encroachments of business cares are two elements of life that slowly force a man and wife apart to a greater or less extent till after twenty years of matrimony it not infrequently happens that without any jar of conscious estrangement the two are spending most of their time in separate pursuits. Into this breach the wheel has slipped with magnetic power. A common enthusiasm for the steel steed brings them together in interest, their daily spins in company make them amusement sharers and the silver wedding anniversary is likely to stretch on to the golden one, if they are spared to see it, with their lives happily welded."

Misses Them.

"Say, grandpa, don't you wish you was a boy again?"

"Well, meebly I'd like to be one of I could git back the two fingers I hed blown off by one of them blamed little cannons."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Mixed Up.

Nurse (to young husband)—A beautiful ten-pound baby, sir. Young Husband (getting things mixed in his excitement)—Glorious! Am I a father or a mother?—Amusing Journal.

Cruel.

He—By Jove, this weather's hot enough to kill a dog.

She—Yes, I'm surprised that you venture out.—Cleveland Leader.

FINE AND SENTENCE FOR J. M. MOWERS

ALLEN GROVE MAN TO BE PUNISHED.

Must Pay About Two Hundred Dollars or Go to Jail for Three Months—
An Appeal Taken to the Circuit Court—Say He Beat His Father-in-Law.

For pounding and bruising his father-in-law, Henry Dotzenrod, J. M.
Mowers was fined $25 and costs, in addition to a jail sentence of thirty days by Judge Phelps in the municipal court this morning. If he does not pay the fine and costs he must serve sixty days more, or ninety days in all.

Mowers was not satisfied with the court's decision and the case was appealed to the circuit court. The defendant was obliged to give $400 bail.
The charge made against Mowers was assault and battery, and the case is of long standing. Both the defendant and plaintiff reside on a farm near Allen Grove. It is claimed by Dotzen-rod that his son-in-law, Mowers, came home from Clinton late one afternoon, in an intoxicated condition, and beat him. Dotzenrod came out of the frac-cas with painful injuries. The case has been tried before, and the jury disagreed. It was finally the agreement of both parties that Judge Phelps should decide the matter.

The costs in the case aggregate $180. Attorney Barnes appeared for the father-in-law, while Mahoney & Cunningham represented the defendant.

ing service in the parlors of the church yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock. After a business meeting, an interesting programme was rendered, which consisted of the following numbers:

Sketch of Burma, The Country, Religion and its relation to other countries by Mrs. Selleck; a reading by Mrs.
Will Bates, singing by Pearl Hall,
Fannie Clithero, Alice Cousins and Mable Woodman; select reading by Mrs. Dow; select reading by Miss Kimball; recitation entitled "Flossie Old Miser," by Marjorie Bates, Pearl
Hall, Gussie Granger, Ethel Bates, Mabel Woodman, Fannie Clithero and Alice Cousins. The receipts realized for the evening were $26.35.

A FOUR DAY SALE.

Bort, Bailey & Co. Will Have a Remarkable Sale of Dry Goods This Week

Our store has been prominent to the people of Janesville and Rock county through the remarkable sales of dry goods we have had from time to time.
We have never quibbled about prices when entering into a special sale of dry goods such as we introduced today and which continues over Saturday night. Every item in our stock will be put in price to an extent that will make them extremely special.
We mention a few of them in our large space on page eight this evening. Muslins of different sorts, table linens of different kinds, ribbons, dress skirts, fancy silks, etc. We haven't the time or space to enumerate all the articles and prices in our store, but just to give you an idea of what is going to happen during the next four days, we insert this list tonight. There is enough saving of money on the articles mentioned to make it a necessity of careful study. There is not a lady in the city who can afford to let this sale go by unheeded, therefore we say again study the list carefully. Bort, Bailey & Co.

$1.47 is a popular shoe price. Rich-

PROSPECTS ARE THAT THEY WILL RUN.

Negotiations Pending for a Power
House Site Close to the Railway Track at Spring Brook, and Local Contractors are Figuring on Plans
For the Building.

The present indications are that the Janesville street railway will be in operation within the next two months.

People who are in a position to known say that owner George W.
Bladon will not insist on a new franchise but will act in the future as he has in the past. If the road during the winter months does not pay all Mr. Bladon has to do is to shut down a few weeks "for repairs" it is said.

The report of the Northwestern officials discourages the idea of having the power house at the corner of the Beloit road and Eastern avenue. They claim that four hundred feet of side track is unnecessary. Negotiations are now pending for the sale of the Spicer property at the corner of Eastern avenue and the railroad track, and Mr. Spicer, who is now in Chicago, says that he will sign over the property this week or next.

Local contractors are now working on plans for the power house, to be submitted to Mr. Bladon.

GOULD'S NOVEL SMOKING ROOM

Unique Electric Pen Decorations on His Yacht Atalanta.

George J. Gould, who is commodore of the Atlantic Yacht club, has recently had a number of alterations made to the interior of his magnificent steam yacht Atalanta, which, as every one knows, is one of the most luxuriously-equipped yachts on this side of the Atlantic. When the Atalanta was originally built, some thirteen years ago, for Jay Gould, the father of the present owner, yachtsmen came from far and near to examine the wonderful carvings in her dining saloon, which is the most magnificent apartment of its kind on any yacht. On the Atalanta, as is the custom on many English yachts, the owner's quarters are forward instead of aft, as is usually the case, and the principal apartment on the main deck is a large ladies' saloon, which leads by a stairway aft to the dining saloon below. This year Mr. Gould had about ten feet taken off the after end of the ladies' saloon, which he has converted into a smoking room and buffet, where he can drink a cocktail and smoke a friendly cigar without being disturbed. This room, though hardly noticeable, on account of its size, being only about ten feet square, is chiefly remarkable for its unique decorations and the inscriptions on its walls, which instantly attract the attention of the most blasé yachtsmen on account of their beauty and originality. The room which Mr. Gould calls his "den" is beautifully paneled in white ash, surrounded by red leather-covered sofas. While this is not very remarkable in itself, the decorations are, for burned into the wood for about a tenth of an inch by the aid of an electric pen are scroll-work figures running along the wall, sides, and even in the beams supporting the ceiling. The contrast between the smoky character of the decorations and the white ash background is remarkably beautiful, and has attracted the attention of every visitor on the Atalanta since the room has been opened. In case any visitor should forget his real reason for entering the room in his admiration for the decorations, Commodore Gould has kindly burned into the wall the following inscription:

If on my theme I rightly think, there are five reasons why we drink: Good wine, a friend, because I'm dry, or lest I should be by and by, or any other reason why.

"We won't count this one."

While on the other side of the room are the following lines:

Wouldst thou know the secrets of the sea?

Only those who comprehend its dangers comprehend its mysteries.

This is about the first work of its kind ever done by the electric pen, and, judging by the result on the Atlanta, it has opened a new field for the decoration of natural wood.—New York Sun.

THE USE OF WOOD.

Handle Bars of That Material Are Used on Some Wheels This Year.

Wood has been found more elastic than steel, and, though a wooden rim will split from the force of a violent collision, repeated trials have shown that it will spring back unharmed from the effects of an impact that would cause serious injury to steel and make the resources of a repair shop needful. Wooden rims are made in different ways—some of a single piece bent into a circle, others being laminated, or "built up" of layers of wood—but there is nothing more improbable than that a return to the use of steel rims will ever occur. Last year the use of wooden guards over the rear wheels and chains of women's bicycles was adopted, and their gracefulness and pretty effect at once won for them a high degree of favor. Now they are to be seen on almost all the wheels made for the gentler sex, being in some cases enameled in white or some other color. One or two of the manufacturers cling to the use of steel for this purpose, and one that adopted aluminum last year adheres to it this year, but wood seems bound to be used as generally for this purpose as for rims.

This year the wooden handle bar has made its appearance. Handle bars of wood have been little used thus far, but the season is yet young. No one who has seen them can deny their graceful and comely appearance. Hickory wood is used, and by a process of steaming it can readily be bent into any shape. These handles seem to be as light as steel, and as they are more elastic it is said that the vibration of the wheel is felt less by the hands and arms. The wooden handle bars can be made adjustable as well as the steel one. It certainly will not rust, and it would be a simple thing to give it a coat of shellac now and then. A good many people will watch with interest to note whether wood becomes as universally used for handle bars as for rims of wheels.—New York Tribune.

A Remarkable Hen.

"Talking about chickens," said the rural citizen who habitually exaggerates, "I've got the most remarkable hen in the country." "A good layer?" "That's her strong point. Why, sir," he said, getting excited as he talked, "that fowl, sir, lays hen's eggs as big as hailstones."—Washington Star.

No Good.

Mr. Munson.—Is that a good story you are reading? Miss Mimms.—No, it doesn't amount to very much. I've read it half through and haven't found a solitary French word yet.—Cleveland Leader.

JAPANESE FACES.

How They Are Drawn an Interesting Study.

Youth is indicated by the absence of all but essential touches and by the clean, smooth curves of the face and neck, says the Atlantic. Excepting the touches which suggest eyes, nose and mouth, there are no lines. The curves speak sufficiently of fulness, smoothness, ripeness. For illustrative purpose it is unnecessary to elaborate feature; for the age is correctly indicated by the style of the coiffure and the fashion of the dress. In female figures the absence of eyebrows, also, indicates wifehood; a straggling tress signifies grief; troubled thought is shown by an unmistakable pose of gesture. Hair, costume and attitude are indeed enough to explain almost everything. But the Japanese artist knows how by means of extremely delicate variations in the direction and position of the half-dozen touches indicating feature to give some hint of character, whether sympathetic or unsympathetic; and this hint is seldom lost upon a Japanese eye. Again, an almost imperceptible hardening or softening of these touches has moral significance. Still, this is never individual; it is the only faintest possible hint of a physiognomical law. In the case of immature youth, boy or girl faces, there is only a general indication of softness and gentleness—the abstract rather than the concrete charm of childhood.

In the portrayal of maturer types the lines are more numerous and more accentuated, in recognition of the fact that character necessarily becomes more marked in middle age, as the facial muscles begin to show. But there is only the suggestion of this change, not any study of individualism. In the representation of old age the Japanese artist shows us the wrinkles, the hollows, the shrinking of the tissues, the "crow's feet," the gray hairs, the change in the line of face following upon the loss of teeth. His old men and women show character. They delight us by a certain worn sweetness of expression, a look of benevolent resignation; or they repel us by an aspect of cunning, avarice or envy. There are many types of old age but they are types of human conditions, not of personality. The picture is not drawn from a model; it is not the reflection of an individual existence; its value is made by the recognition which it exhibits of a general physiognomical or biological law. Here it is worth while to notice that the reserves of Japanese art in the matter of facial expression accord with the ethics of oriental society. For ages the rule of conduct has been to mask all selfish feeling as far as possible—to hide pain and passion under an exterior semblance of smiling amiability or impassive resignation. One key to the enigmas of Japanese art is Buddhism.
